Since it appears you need to have Paradox tables, and changes to those tables, is there a reason you are not doing this using Paradox? Why is Access involved?

Hi,

I need to modify the design of some tables originally Paradox tables, I'm able to open the tables, modify data and everything, but I cannot modify the tables because I'm not able to modify linked tables, so, I imported the table into access tables, then I modified the design (a new field was added) and when I'm trying to export them again to paradox, seems to be OK, but it's not, because primaries keys has disappeared, is there anyway to export to paradox along with primaries keys.

I'll really appreciate your help.

Thanks in advanced.
