Quite a few of us do. With one exception, though, we don't solicit business in the newsgroups.

There are numerous websites for posting job offers – Monster.com for instance – or you could post a (munged, to keep spammers from getting it) email address asking for help. Check out respondants (here on the newsgroups is probably a good choice, use <http://groups.google.com> advanced search to find their previous posting if you aren't familiar with them).
