Hello Ibzán.

I would like to add fields. I created a Database. Then created a form where on the hours column (fields) I want it to automatically add. I did get that far, furthermore, when I type, for example; 7.50 it will automatically change it to 8. On the other hand, if I type 7.25 it will change it to 7.

How can I make it to leave exactly what I type and add fields at the same time. I would sen you an attachment of my database.

Thank you!

Dont't post attachments in this newsgroup.

So you have a textbox in your form, displaying the Hours field from a table in your database. What dou you want to add?

Check the fieldsize of the field in the table. I guess that the field has type number and the field size is Long Integer. Change the field size to single or double.
