MY point is being misinterpreted – I submitted a post to a forum and an MVP responded with "try it and see"

so now I must respond back that I did try it and it didn't work... not much value add to my way of thinking

I've seen responses on this forum that actually explained why something would or would not work (from a technical perspective), and maybe even provided a suggestion or 2 didn't mean to offend – I'll keep looking for technical assistance
