I apologize for the name of the query (as it started out as a Pivot Table then I tried the crosstab)

[PivotTable Update] is a select query combining the [Post-Off Table] to the [Items Table] using the item # as key (Items table) and [item #] combined with the [start date] as key [Post Off Table]. There are several Post Off s for each item #.

The crosstab query gives me the structure that I need for user input, but does not let me type into the cells&

This is the SQL:

TRANSFORM First([PivotTable Update].[Post Off Price]) AS [FirstOfPost Off
Price]
SELECT [PivotTable Update].SUPSUBFL, [PivotTable Update].[Item #],
[PivotTable Update].[Item Description], First([PivotTable Update].[Post Off
Price]) AS [Total Of Post Off Price]
FROM [PivotTable Update]
GROUP BY [PivotTable Update].SUPSUBFL, [PivotTable Update].[Item #],
[PivotTable Update].[Item Description]
PIVOT Format([Post Off Start Date],"Short Date");

```

SUPSUBFL = combination of three fields for grouping purposes (for updating groups of similar data with similar structures)

But&.

When turned into a make table&gives me these fields

Item #	Item Description	Expr1003	FirstOfPost Off Price	Total Of Post Off Price
172173	Same description for all 1/2/2005	72	72
172173	Same description for all 1/30/2005	72	72
172173	Same description for all 10/2/2005	40.08	40.08
172173	Same description for all 10/30/2005	40.08	40.08
...
...

Re: pivot table

When I send it out to Excel it keeps the structure that I need, as follows:

* Date field names continue (as below) across the table&

SUPSUBFL | Item # | Item Description | Total Of Post Off | 1/13/2005 |
1/13/2005 | 1/16/2005 | 1/2/2005 | 1/23/2005 | 1/25/2005 | 1/30/2005 |
1/7/2005 | 1/9/2005 | 10/2/2005&&.
