I have a report with several subreports which work fine on preview. I got there was an font initialization error when I print or send as an email for any format. It rpints out, but missign 2 subreports with font initalization errors.

The reports work fine if I take out 2 subreports from main report. It does not matter any 2 subreports I took out. The report just print out fine.

The subreports and min report both work fine indivisual to print.

Am I right? The Access sends the report to Windows and Windows sends the report to printer. If the preview report works then the problem should be between Windows and printer driver or manufactures?

If it is an issue between Windows and Printer manufactures then are there any place I can looking in to?

Are there any issue inside MS Access?

Your hlep is great appreciated,
