

SBS2003 replacing SBS2000 – ok to keep same IP, domain and computer name?

SBS2003 replacing SBS2000 – ok to keep same IP, domain and computer name?

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/BackOffice/microsoft.public.backoffice.smallbiz/2006-12/msg00039.html>

- From: "mbw" <mbwm34@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sat, 9 Dec 2006 12:27:02 -0000
-

About to replace an existing SBS2000 with a SBS2003 Premium.

Plan was to keep same IP, domain and computer name, just transfer over file data and Exchange data, then join existing Win2k/XP clients to the new server.

Any issues if I keep server IP (192.168.16.2), Domain Name and Server Name the same??

Also have Trend SMB and BackupExec

Thanks

.