Hi Sid

Things You need to know – FYI

VERY IMPORTANT: Free mini certification tests.

As Microsoft says

"The one thing you can count on in the IT field is change. Whether it's for a new job or a system-wide deployment, keeping your skills current is the best way to enjoy continued success."

Microsoft Skills Assessments are free and Important to you. These assessments are maintained by Microsoft to insure they are current with todays technologies. Industry use these assessments to measure your skill sets, so completing them successfully is in your best interest. Certified Professionals are also being asked by industry to complete these assessments to verify their credentials are current. You can find these assessments at <http://www.microsoft.com/learning/assessment/default.asp>

These assessments are like mini certification tests. You can take as many assessments as you need or want to and there is no cost. If you need help, you can also get excellent free detailed Q&A support for these assessments at <http://disnetinc.com/>

Also Remember:

If it is necessary to retake a certification exam you can "Get a Free second shot" at <http://www.microsoft.com/learning/mcp/offers/2ndshot/>

View all Microsoft Certifications at <http://www.microsoft.com/learning/mcp/certifications.asp>
>From this location you will get the necessary information you need to do your training.
