You lose the weird happenings game.

Today, my SQL server decided it didn't want to process the ORDER BY clause. Yes, you read that right. A simple select query, which would return under 1000 records normally takes a second or two, tops. Throw in the order by clause, and it took upwards of 10 minutes to process. Needless to say, this put a damper on my Crystal Report writing. Never got to the bottom of it, but I stopped and restarted the SQL service, and now it's running well again. However, I'm not holding my breath that all will be well tomorrow...
