

CMD NamedParameters

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Data/microsoft.public.data.ado/2004-02/0399.html>

From: Price Brattin (pbrattin_at_bigfoot.com)

Date: 02/21/04

Date: Sat, 21 Feb 2004 13:47:23 -0800

Thank you, Picine. It now runs without error messages but it does not change any data. Any other ideas?

>-----Original Message-----

>Your CommandText should be:

>Cmd.CommandText = "Declare @NewID VarChar(10), @OldID

>VarChar(10)" & VbCrLf _

> & "Update TimeSheet Set EmpID = @NewID

>Where EmpID = @OldID "

>

>

>>-----Original Message-----

>>I execute the following code in ADO 2.8 and SQLServer >>returns the error "Must Declare Variable @NewID" on the >>Cmd.Execute. What am I doing wrong?

>>

>>Cmd.Connection = ADOConn

>>Cmd.Name = "UpDateTbl"

>>Cmd.Prepared = True

>>Cmd.NamedParameters = True

>>Cmd.CommandText = "Update TimeSheet " _

>> & Set EmpID = @NewID Where EmpID = @OldID " >>Cmd.Parameters.Append Cmd.CreateParameter("@NewID", _ >> adVarChar, adParamInput, 10)

>>Cmd.Parameters.Append Cmd.CreateParameter("@OldID", _ >> adVarChar, adParamInput, 10)

>>

>>Cmd("@NewID") = "0010"

>>Cmd("@OldID") = "SmithBob"

>>

>>Cmd.Execute

>>

>>

>>.

>>

>.

>