

Re: Only want to insert a record

---

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Data/microsoft.public.data.ado/2006-01/msg00024.html>

---

- From: "Daniel Crichton" <msnews@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Tue, 10 Jan 2006 17:14:57 -0000
-

"Dave" <dave5398@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
news:el5ghQeFGHA.3700@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx
>
> "Daniel Crichton" <msnews@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
> news:%23ULG0EeFGHA.2444@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx
>>
>> "Dave" <dave5398@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
>> news:eOuM54dFGHA.3892@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx
>>> I'm trying again to develop my web application locally using IIS and asp >>> scripting with a local MS Access database. I have never managed to >>> update or insert a record using scripting. I can seem to display >>> records ok but any attempt to amend records seems to fail. I tried >>> using recordsets then read in MS documentation you should execute a >>> direct command. My latest failed attempt is this:
>>>
>>> `ConnectionString = ".....etc"`
>>> `Conn.Mode=3`
>>> `Conn.Open(ConnectionString)`
>>> `sql="INSERT INTO Users (Name, Password) VALUES ('Jim', 'Hello')"`
>>> `Conn.Execute sql`
>>>
>>> The sql works fine within Access itself. When executed within an asp >>> page however I get:
>>>
>>> Error Type:
>>> Microsoft JET Database Engine (0x80004005)
>>> Operation must use an updateable query.
>>>
>>> Can anyone please help, I've been trying for months.
>>
>> Do you have a primary key on that table? The error message suggests not.
>> Also try adding [] around your table and column names – in some system
>> Name and Password are reserved words, and ADO or the OLE DB driver may be >> trying to interpret them as such. Also drop the Mode property, I've never >> needed to use this myself as I believe the default is to not set any >> permissions, which lets you do whatever your user permissions allow.
>>
>> `sql="INSERT INTO [Users] ([Name], [Password]) VALUES ('Jim', 'Hello')"`

Re: Only want to insert a record

>>
>>
>> Dan
>
> Dan,
>
> Thanks but still no luck. I did all of the above and still get the same > result. Any reason why calling ADO from a script should be different to > calling it from MS Access or VB?
>

In Access the native parser is doing all the work. Via ADO it's being handled by the Jet engine via the OLE DB provider, so is not completely native. When you say "VB", how is that different from a script? Are you saying it's working using VB? What version of VB?

Dan

---

• Follow-Ups:

- ◆ Re: Only want to insert a record
    ◇ From: Mark J. McGinty

• References:

- ◆ Only want to insert a record
    ◇ From: Dave
- ◆ Re: Only want to insert a record
    ◇ From: Daniel Crichton
- ◆ Re: Only want to insert a record
    ◇ From: Dave

- Prev by Date: Re: Return Results of sp_helpTEXT via ADO
- Next by Date: Re: The specified procedure could not be found
- Previous by thread: Re: Only want to insert a record
- Next by thread: Re: Only want to insert a record
- Index(es):
  - ◆ Date
  - ◆ Thread