

Re: Only want to insert a record

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Data/microsoft.public.data.ado/2006-01/msg00030.html>

- From: "Daniel Crichton" <msnews@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Wed, 11 Jan 2006 10:24:33 -0000
-

Dave wrote on Wed, 11 Jan 2006 09:58:56 -0000:

- > Dear Mark,
- >
- > Thanks. I'll try looking into the user permissions aspect although the
- > database is simply a personal one on my PC with no security settings set.
- > Of course I only wanted to use Access as a simple convenient platform
- > (which I know) to do the development the actual platform is a real
- > database (I think it's MySQL) on my provider's server. It is a good
- > suggestion though to look at alternatives eg MySQL or the 'lite' version
- > of SQL Server (I did not know there was one!).
- >
- > But really, it SHOULD be possible to do this simple thing with Access
- > should it not? I can't believe nobody out there has done it.

Who says nobody has done it? I've got simple ASP applications running here that use Access databases and don't have the problems that you're having. I'd completely forgotten about having to give IIS permission to the .mdb file to modify it – without that, it's always opened in read-only mode.

Dan

• References:

- ◆ Only want to insert a record
◇ From: Dave
- ◆ Re: Only want to insert a record
◇ From: Daniel Crichton
- ◆ Re: Only want to insert a record
◇ From: Dave
- ◆ Re: Only want to insert a record
◇ From: Daniel Crichton
- ◆ Re: Only want to insert a record
◇ From: Mark J. McGinty
- ◆ Re: Only want to insert a record

Re: Only want to insert a record

◇ From: Dave

- Prev by Date: Re: Only want to insert a record
- Next by Date: Create Index – Pls Help
- Previous by thread: Re: Only want to insert a record
- Next by thread: Re: The specified procedure could not be found
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread