

Re: oledb standard errors?

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Data/microsoft.public.data.oledb/2004-08/0080.html>

From: Kovalenko Dmitry (dima_at_lcpi.lipetsk.ru)

Date: 08/17/04

Date: Tue, 17 Aug 2004 17:38:08 +0400

> > so then is it correct to say that OLEDB providers adhere to a common > > error numbering convention? Will all OLEDB providers raise the same > > ODBC error when the same error conditions occur? That is, will the > > error number raised by sqloledb during a primary key violation be the > > same as the error raised by jet oledb in the same scenario?
>
> In theory, yes. In the end that is of course up to the implementation of the > provider in question. I have no experience of other providers than SQLOLEDB, > so I cannot tell how the real-life situation looks like.

In practice – no

--

Dmitry Kovalenko

<http://www.ibprovider.com>