

Re: Fast Database access required

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/DotNet/microsoft.public.dotnet.framework.adonet/2004-10/1558.html>

From: James Jenkins (James_at_REMOVETHIS1STtamarsolutions.co.uk)

Date: 10/25/04

Date: Mon, 25 Oct 2004 20:46:25 +0100

"David Browne" <davidbaxterbrowne no potted meat@hotmail.com> wrote in message news:O$KptxquEHA.2724@TK2MSFTNGP12.phx.gbl...

>
> "James Jenkins" <James@REMOVETHIS1STtamarsolutions.co.uk> wrote in message > news:%23Yq60puEHA.2196@TK2MSFTNGP14.phx.gbl...
>> Hi – I have a very large database (65535 entries)
>
> No, you have a very small database.
>
>> and need to call this database as often as every 100ms – Oledb and Access >> use WAY tomuch CPU and I needsomeadviceon how toimplement a VERY fast >> data access system – is it quicker to use a text file? – or isit better >> to use xml?– any help much appreciated
>>
>
> Can you just load the data into a DataSet and use it in memory. That's > fast.
>
> David
>

I'll do that but wont that hoglots of memory ?