>It's amazing how few people actually attempted to answer your question.

In my opinion was this in a kind of same way answered in the first answer in this messagethread by Picho already as you did.

I had nothing to add to that, and still do I find that and yours not the best approach.

The same answer as when somebody asks "my car is always out of petrol what can I do about that" and than the answer is "push the car". Or maybe better "let your wife/girlfriend push the car"
