

Re: Can I display data from different tables in same dataGrid view?

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/DotNet/microsoft.public.dotnet.framework.adonet/2005-04/msg01251.html>

- From: "Cor Ligthert" <notmyfirstname@xxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Fri, 22 Apr 2005 07:35:10 +0200
-

Mdb,

When you want them in one row you have to use the join, or to create an extra table (or add data using the relations to extra created columns using the expression with the relation in the child and display that).

Keep in mind that you cannot update that created (or joined) table in a straight way.

You would have to pull the data out that again.

I hope this helps,

Cor

- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: Can I display data from different tables in same dataGrid view?
◇ From: mdb

- References:
 - ◆ Can I display data from different tables in same dataGrid view?
◇ From: mdb
 - ◆ Re: Can I display data from different tables in same dataGrid view?
◇ From: Cor Ligthert
 - ◆ Re: Can I display data from different tables in same dataGrid view?
◇ From: mdb

- Prev by Date: RE: DataTable.Select Sort order bug
- Next by Date: Datreader and Connection
- Previous by thread: Re: Can I display data from different tables in same dataGrid view?
- Next by thread: Re: Can I display data from different tables in same dataGrid view?
- Index(es):

Re: Can I display data from different tables in same dataGrid view?

- ◆ Date
- ◆ Thread