

Re: Reading BLOB data from SQL using a datareader

---

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/DotNet/microsoft.public.dotnet.framework.adonet/2005-08/msg00693.html>

---

- From: "David Carr" <David\_Carr@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Mon, 15 Aug 2005 14:09:00 -0700
-

Jason,

I also found Peter van Ooijen's article, "Building a real-life web-experience : Don't trip over the threads", useful.

<http://www.dotnetjunkies.com/Article/55C1654E-A55C-40AB-AF5F-7C944388D96A.dcik>

Perhaps it will also have some relevance to what you are doing.

David

"Jason James" <jason@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message news:43003e1d.1035398@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

> Hi all,

>

> I have some working code that reads BLOBs from an > SQL database, but it reads them into a dataset. This > is fine for small BLOBs, but if they are large I want to > be able to retrieve them only when needed. Therefore > I should like to use a datareader. Can this be done?
> Does anyone have any sample code or useful > resources that could help me with this task.

>

> Many thanks,

>

> Jason.

.

---

- Follow-Ups:
  - ◆ Re: Reading BLOB data from SQL using a datareader
◇ From: Jason James

- References:

Re: Reading BLOB data from SQL using a datareader

◆ Reading BLOB data from SQL using a datareader

◇ From: Jason James

- Prev by Date: Re: How to retrieve stored procedure error code in C#?
- Next by Date: Re: Filling dataset from oracle gives OCI-22053 error
- Previous by thread: Re: Reading BLOB data from SQL using a datareader
- Next by thread: Re: Reading BLOB data from SQL using a datareader
- Index(es):
  - ◆ Date
  - ◆ Thread