Ok sorry I screwed up. I was trying to connect to localhost instead of the ip of my local machine. Too used to desktop development.

Thanks,

I am trying to connect to a web service on the same machine as my mobile application and I am using a smartphone emulator that has been cradled in ActiveSync. I can connect to the internet just fine using IE, but when I try to call my web service from my mobile code, I get an error "Unable to establish connection"

Any ideas?

thanks,
