hi Santosh,

it is difficult to follow your situation. you say that after you change List3 that it resets the index back to 0 when the page posts back. am i right in saying that the postback is because List3 has AutoPostBack=true? the reason i ask is because you don't appear to have a SelectedIndexChanged event for List3. so i'm not sure why you would want List3 to post back itself.

i hope you can clarify the above question. also, please post your aspx code with the 3 lists, and your InitialiseComponent code to make sure you have wired the events correctly with the menus.
