Hi Ed,

I understand that in your project it doesn't work as expected. Since I don't have your project at hand, I had to use a simpler test project to test the issue.

As I described in my last reply, the simple test works correctly. Would you please try the steps in my last reply and see if it works or not?

If the simple test works, maybe you can compare it with your current project and see which difference is causing the problem.
