Hi,

Apologies if this has been asked several times but I'm pretty new to this web stuff and I cannot find anything suitable.

Does anybody have any suitable information on converting an existing (non AJAX) Visual studio 2003 webproject to incorporate AJAX. Obviously, not just the updates required to the web_config file but updating individual aspx files to use AJAX.

Must the project be converted to VS2005 first?

Thanks
Lee
