I went to your web site and the first thing I noticed was the misspelling of "Totenham" Court Road tube station on your contact page and "Totenham" court road. Unprofessionalism is not something that attracts me to a company and I expect dissuades many others of any calibre!

Any website which boasts the word "Crowdsourcing" really makes you wonder...!

Who on earth in their right mind would want to work for an organisation like that...?

no one of any calibre needs to spend their time on what your asking to find work in London.

Yes indeed! IT jobs we got 'em...
