I have created a user control that is a drop down list that pulls from my database. I then drop that control into a detailsview control on an insert item template. When I run the insert command, the drop down list control isn't returning a value. How can I pass the value from the drop down list control into the Insert Command Parameters? The same situation works fine when the drop down list isn't a user control but is created on the screen. I would like to use the usercontrol because I will be using these values in multiple places.
