

Re: Com+ – when to use ?

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/DotNet/microsoft.public.dotnet.framework.component_services/2004-08/0028.h

From: José Miguel Torres (jtorres_diaz~~ARROBA~~terra.es)

Date: 08/16/04

Date: Mon, 16 Aug 2004 17:06:54 +0200

It depend if your componenets are library o server applications, if you use transactions, object pooling.... see this link...<http://www.gotdotnet.com/team/xmlentsvcs/esfaq.aspx#3.1>

regards

--

José Miguel Torres

jtorres_diaz~~ARROBA~~terra.es

<http://jmtorres.blogspot.com>

"nicol469" <ereldor@hotmail.com> escribió en el mensaje

news:6c74520a.0408050545.53537210@posting.google.com...

> Hello all,

>

> My project has many layers - SI (sevice component), Orc

> (Orchestration), BL &DAL. Nowadays i'm using com+ for every layer (Si > is a service component, others are plain library components).

> My question is - should i use com+ other then for the si? will com+ > slow the performance of the application (or maybe accelerate it?) - > well, i'm a bit confused..

>

>

> Nico