

Re: CryptographicException WSE502

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/DotNet/microsoft.public.dotnet.framework.webservices.enhancements/2005-03/>

From: Sidd (ElCid_at_hotmail.com)

Date: 03/25/05

Date: Thu, 24 Mar 2005 23:50:33 -0800

Hi Tim,

I haven't looked into this issue as yet. Is it still an issue for you? You never got back to me on whether this error is only caused when calling the Async methods.

Thanks,

Sidd [MSFT]

"Tim Mackey" <tim@mackey.ie> wrote in message
news:61d3e372.0503160352.64924ca7@posting.google.com...

> hi Luke,

> i'm really just following up john o'neills post in january 2005, see

>

<http://groups.google.ie/groups?hl=en&lr=&threadm=ep6nhFx%24EHA.1400%40TK2MSFTNGP11.phx.gbl&rnum=1>

>

> i have the same symptoms as him, and Sidd said he was going to look > into it. i would be interested to hear if that was ever followed up.

>

> in my app, the user is importing a file containing a web site > structure, and building pages and folders out of it, sending these to > the server as they are imported. for large import files, there can be > over 1500 operations, all done in about 30 seconds over a LAN > connection. the processing really needs to be done on the client (to > give an accurate progress indication), so i don't want to send off the > config file to the server and let the server do it all in one go.

>

> have you any suggestions for how i could work around it, given these > constraints?

> i could lock out the user interface during the import operation (done > on worker thread), but this is a last resort.

>

> thanks

> tim