

Re: Changing Webservice from Server Without rebuilding

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/DotNet/microsoft.public.dotnet.framework.webservices/2004-06/0309.html>

From: Wayne (wsepega_at_NoLandSpamstar.com)

Date: 06/24/04

Date: Thu, 24 Jun 2004 15:26:53 -0400

Right click on your webservice in the VS.net gui and select properties. One of the URL Behavior, set it to dynamic. Your app will then have an APP.Config if it doesn't already and the URL will be settable in the config file.

Thanks
Wayne

"Carlos Hernandez" <carlos@integrasofthn.com> wrote in message
news:e4rXrphWEHA.3420@TK2MSFTNGP12.phx.gbl...

- > We have created a webservice, and in our test server everything works fine,
- > but when we want to move it to our
- > production server, we have to change IP in the webreference properties,
- and
- > rebuild our application.
- > Is there a way to do this dynamically so we don't have to recompile our
- > application each time we change IP or server?
- >
- >
- > Thanks.
- >
- >