

Creating my own intellisense, code completion functionality

---

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/DotNet/microsoft.public.dotnet.framework.windowsforms/2005-04/msg00439.h>

---

- From: "Jeremy Chapman" <NoSpam@xxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Mon, 11 Apr 2005 13:25:28 -0700
-

Our company as written an application where users can write c# 'scripts' for some very specific scripting needs. It is our intent to distribute this to analysts so they can write scripts. The application works very well, but we want to employ some sort of intellisense or code completion much like the functionality seen in visual studio. Does anyone know if/where I can find white papers or examples, or open source to see how others have tackled this?

.

---

- Follow-Ups:
  - ◆ *RE: Creating my own intellisense, code completion functionality*
    - ◇ From: Jakob Christensen
- Prev by Date: *Re: Datagrid Help*
- Next by Date: *Re: Form Navigation*
- Previous by thread: *Form Navigation*
- Next by thread: *RE: Creating my own intellisense, code completion functionality*
- Index(es):
  - ◆ *Date*
  - ◆ *Thread*