

Re: Software relationship diagram

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/DotNet/microsoft.public.dotnet.general/2004-11/1288.html>

jeff_at_removeemergencyreporting.com

Date: 11/13/04

Date: Sat, 13 Nov 2004 15:19:42 -0800

That would always depend on your application. If you app used SQL Server, you would need SQL Server. If it used FoxPro, then FoxPro would be a requirement.

Jeff

"pksdiva" <pksdiva@discussions.microsoft.com> wrote in message news:CEE4C4E9-53AF-4323-833D-667D314C083B@microsoft.com...

> Is there a chart available that shows the relationships between the various software products? I am starting to develop apps in the .NET environment.

I

> will have SQL Server database(s), SharePoint, FrontPage and Visual FoxPro elements. I need to ensure that I have a server with all the supporting software I need installed.

>

> Thanks.