I just installed .NET 2003 on XP Home (did not install IIS or SQL Server). After the install, it says to check for updates, but when I do this I get an error message saying theupdate failed – check your browser settings.

This also occurs from within the .NET IDE – same message. Unfortunately it doesn't indicate what browser settings to check.

The browser works fine for everything else – including MSDN Downloads.

Any ideas?

Thanks.
