

Re: Session variables with forms based authentication

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/DotNet/microsoft.public.dotnet.languages.csharp/2004-05/1607.html>

From: matt (zz1__at__tiscali.fr)

Date: 05/07/04

Date: Fri, 07 May 2004 15:35:35 +0200

Hi,

Morten wrote:

> Hi!
>
> I've been implementing forms based authentication in a web project. It > works pretty good. When I log on by clicking the "login" button the > following code is executed:
>
> if (ValidateUser(strUserName,txtUserPass.Value))
...
> This as you can see sets a couple of session variables. The problem is > that I've made it possible to use a persistent cookie so that users don't > have to key in their credentials everytime they log in. When the cookie is > used users are granted access immediately and the code above is not used > and therefore the session variables are not initialized.

You can define the method "Session_OnStart" in the global.asax file that will automatically execute needed code for cookie checking and session variables initialization.

Hope this will help you.

Matt