

Re: Fill a datalist with names of tables

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/DotNet/microsoft.public.dotnet.languages.csharp/2004-08/1445.html>

From: kscdavefl (kscdavefl_at_discussions.microsoft.com)

Date: 08/06/04

Date: Fri, 6 Aug 2004 09:09:02 -0700

Hi again:

I'll give that a try, many thanks

Dave

"Ignacio Machin (.NET/ C# MVP)" wrote:

> Hi,
>
> Oracle must have listed somewhere the elements of a DB, in SQL it's stored > in a table named sysobjects , in oracle must exist something similar, you > can query this table to get your tables names, after that all you have to do > is build a query to get all the records from the selected table, > you may have one problem though, as the fields of each table are different > you may have problem with the second datalist, therefore I think that it's > best to use a datagrid with autogeneratecolumns set to true.
>
>
> Cheers,
>
> --
> Ignacio Machin,
> ignacio.machin AT dot.state.fl.us
> Florida Department Of Transportation
>
>
>
> "kscdavefl" <kscdavefl@discussions.microsoft.com> wrote in message > news:86751BAB-6D75-43B6-8159-A7BD1DC21E0C@microsoft.com...
> > I have 2 datalists on a web form. I want to fill one with the names of > the > > tables and the other with the fields in the tables of an Oracle database.
> > Does anyone know the code to make this happen?
> >
> > Thanks,
> >

microsoft.public.dotnet.languages.csharp: Re: Fill a datalist with names of tables

> > Dave

>

>

>