

microsoft.public.dotnet.languages.csharp: Re: singleton application :)

Re: singleton application :)

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/DotNet/microsoft.public.dotnet.languages.csharp/2004-10/4720.html>

From: Ignacio Machin \(.NET/ C# MVP\) ("Ignacio")

Date: 10/21/04

Date: Thu, 21 Oct 2004 08:46:05 -0400

Hi,

Search in the archives, this is discussed from time to time here , you could use either a Mutex, named pipe, or attach to a particular port (not recommended) or search by a particular process/windows name.

Go to google to search for code.

Cheers,

--

Ignacio Machin,
ignacio.machin AT dot.state.fl.us
Florida Department Of Transportation
Pd:

Jon , I think this could be a good thing to include in the FAQ , I may do a compilation of the differents methods. let me know ..

"Luca" <luca@rewind.com> wrote in message
news:%23YZUdn2tEHA.3056@TK2MSFTNGP10.phx.gbl...

> Hello,

>

> i would like that my windows form application does not start if it has > already been run. Do you have any code example for doing this in c#? I dont > know which method it is best to be used. I would do a check in a routine > called at the application's startup, but i dont know what to check :)

>

> Thanks in advance,

> Luca

>

>

Re: singleton application :)