

Re: Duplicate dates

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/DotNet/microsoft.public.dotnet.languages.csharp/2004-10/6744.html>

From: Dummy Here (dumbass_at_keepthespam.com)

Date: 10/29/04

Date: Fri, 29 Oct 2004 19:03:19 -0400

Why not check the array first before inserting a duplicate? If you are using a hashtable you can use the .Contains() method to see if the item is already there.

Trond wrote:

> *I have been trying to fig out how to build up an array with dates. When > its generated i want to be able to remove duplicate dates. The dates is > generated by FileInfo object that is scanning a folder for files.
> Here is some code for that. In this case i am only using a variable not an > array.*
>
> *_info = new FileInfo(_fileName);
> base.Text = _info.LastWriteTime.ToShortDateString();*
>
> *As i see it i must first generate the array with dates. Then create > another array an put the values from array 1 into it one by one. I tested > with StringCollection object. But i'm stuck. I kant fig out how to do it.
> Are there someone that have some code that can show me how to remove > duplicate dates from my array?*
>
> Best regards
> Trond