

Re: New Promotion, need advice

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/DotNet/microsoft.public.dotnet.languages.csharp/2005-02/1735.html>

From: Elidel (im_at_elidel.l.eh.del)

Date: 02/06/05

Date: Sun, 06 Feb 2005 06:07:31 GMT

pachanga wrote:

- > Last week, I got a promotion to a higher position with new
- > responsibilities and new supervisor. My supervisor ask me about a new
- > position opening, and I took the position, but I totally forgot to ask
- > how much is my raise. A week has past and no one has mention it to me.

It sounds like you don't have enough information to act.

I would be grateful for the promotion.

See if there's opportunities for less grunt work, and more training, project management, etc.

Then, after you've locked in and figured the situation, think about money.

- > Next week I start training. What should I do? I feel kinda weird, one
- > thing is I do want to know now. And, the other is should I wait till I
- > go to the new position? What is the normal steps in this process. I
- > kinda feel like I am not going to get a raise, but that would be silly
- > if that happens. However, some guy I know didn't get a raise, but the
- > job he took was really the same to his old position, so I can
- > understand.

--

Texeme

<http://texeme.com>