

Re: Event question

---

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/DotNet/microsoft.public.dotnet.languages.csharp/2005-07/msg03050.html>

---

- From: "Rainer Queck" <Rainer.Queck@xxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Tue, 19 Jul 2005 08:58:18 +0200
-

Hi Johann,

thanks for your efforts.

Steve (a little down in this thread) had the answer that brought my on my way again ;-)

Regards
Rainer

"Johann Blake" <johannblake@xxxxxxxx> schrieb im Newsbeitrag <news:1121697734.110760.234180@xx>

- > So what's the problem? Just pass the variable referencing your event
- > like you are showing. Your SendMessage method only needs to have an
- > EventHandler parameter. That's all.
- >
- > Johann
- >

.

---

• References:

- ◆ Event question
◇ From: Rainer Queck
- ◆ Re: Event question
◇ From: Johann Blake
- ◆ Re: Event question
◇ From: Rainer Queck
- ◆ Re: Event question
◇ From: Johann Blake
- ◆ Re: Event question
◇ From: Rainer Queck
- ◆ Re: Event question
◇ From: Johann Blake
- ◆ Re: Event question
◇ From: Rainer Queck

Re: Event question

- ◆ Re: Event question
  - ◇ From: Johann Blake
- ◆ Re: Event question
  - ◇ From: Rainer Queck
- ◆ Re: Event question
  - ◇ From: Johann Blake

- Prev by Date: RE: Treeview
- Next by Date: Re: JavaScript before postback a page with asp:button
- Previous by thread: Re: Event question
- Next by thread: Re: Event question
- Index(es):
  - ◆ Date
  - ◆ Thread