

Re: How can i escape special characters( % [ _ ) in an Access SQL statement?

Re: How can i escape special characters( % [ _ ) in an Access SQL statement?

---

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/DotNet/microsoft.public.dotnet.languages.csharp/2006-11/msg04957.html>

---

- From: "Anders Borum" <anders@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Tue, 28 Nov 2006 11:20:48 +0100
-

Hi!

It is a recommended practice to use @parameters to provide placeholders in your Sql statements. Construct the Sql statement with parameters and assign the values by mapping each value to the corresponding parameter. This has the benefit of a much cleaner Sql statement and avoids potential code injections.

Let me know if you need additional help on this.

—

With regards
Anders Borum / SphereWorks
Microsoft Certified Professional (.NET MCP)

.