

Re: creating ExecuteQuery method

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/DotNet/microsoft.public.dotnet.languages.csharp/2008-03/msg02891.html>

- From: "Andrus" <kobruleht2@xxxxxx>
 - Date: Mon, 24 Mar 2008 11:37:49 +0200
-

The ignore case looks handy – but personally I'd prefer metadata here – i.e. perhaps some kind of [DbField(...)] against either the field or property. But if it works...

MS ExecuteQuery<T>() doc describes that it performs two-pass match: first case sensitive and if this fails then case insensitive.

Andrus.

.