

Re: IIS problem?

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/DotNet/microsoft.public.dotnet.languages.vb/2004-02/0217.html>

---

From: midnighthell (midnighthell_at_yahoo.co.uk)

Date: 02/02/04

Date: Mon, 2 Feb 2004 03:04:05 +0100

Try to restart .NetFramework, try this:

\windows\microsoft.net\Framework\v1.0.3705\regsvr32.exe , and find option something like that "Install current version of ASP.NET", if that will not work in the same directory try file with name: aspnet_regiis

"Peter Morris" <nospam.ple@se> wrote in message
news:cdcTb.577$gg.51@news-binary.blueyonder.co.uk...

- > I'm currently aving a problem with IIS.
- >
- > I did some ASP programming a few month back using VBScript, and
- > got some basic programs working.
- >
- > I've started learning C# recently, trying to program some web
- applications,
- > and I am having problems with IIS – it doesn't work at all. The link to
- > the IIS start page (<http://localhost/localstart.asp>) on my computer just
- > returns
- > "The page cannot be displayed" My links to my ASP programs, which used
- > to work now just do the same thing.
- >
- > I recently had to reinstall Windows, which might explain the problem.
- >
- > Any ideas what the problem might be? Does IIS need to be started up,
- > or something? Or some sort of configuration settings need to be adjusted?
- >
- >