

Re: Read webpage with VB app

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/DotNet/microsoft.public.dotnet.languages.vb/2004-05/5002.html>

---

From: Chad Z. Hower aka Kudzu (cpub\_at\_hower.org)

Date: 05/22/04

Date: Sat, 22 May 2004 11:44:08 +0300

"KC" <you@dontneed.this> wrote in news:#715f1pPEHA.3304@TK2MSFTNGP12.phx.gbl:
> Is there a simple way to read (and parse) a webpage with a VB.net > application. Right now I can sort of read a page but it's a framed page > and the server thinks the app is a browser that can't handle frames...so > I get a message to the effect in the response.

It sounds like you just want to transfer it, and not display it? If so the webbrowser control is overkill and in fact can interfere. You should look at just using straight HTTP.

--

Chad Z. Hower (a.k.a. Kudzu) - <http://www.hower.org/Kudzu/>

"Programming is an art form that fights back"

Empower ASP.NET with IntraWeb

<http://www.atozed.com/IntraWeb/>