Hi Terry,

The question is for me, is selecting the rows from the tables, selecting the rows with the latest values using the rowstatusfilter to select or is it selecting the rows with the originalvalues.

I stay with the first because I only use the rowstatefilter as a filter to select the rows.

When you use the dataview it gets a different behaviour because than it is not only filtering however as well giving the originalrows, and that for my much more strange to see.

However which one is right, you go probably for the last, I for the first.

I hope you see my point now?
