

RE: Web Service not working on web server

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/DotNet/microsoft.public.dotnet.languages.vb/2004-08/2579.html>

---

From: Ken Tucker [MVP] ([MVP])

Date: 08/14/04

Date: Sat, 14 Aug 2004 02:59:02 -0700

Hi,

Are you sure the invoke method is working on the web server? I am assuming that functionname is quering a database. Maybe the query is failing because of a security issue?

Ken

-----
"Robert Bull" wrote:

> I have an asp.net app that consumes a web service that is working fine > on my local machine. I have put the service and the app on our web > server. If I make a call to a function in the service that returns a > boolean variable, the communication works fine, but if I try to return > a dataset I get the following error:
>
> 'Server was unable to process request. --> Object reference not set to > an instance of an object.'
>
> It looks like the code is choking in the following function:
>
> Public Function GetPersonForACRChange(ByVal IEmployee As Long) As > System.Data.DataSet
> Dim results() As Object = Me.Invoke("FunctionName", New Object() > {IEmployee})
> Return CType(results(0),System.Data.DataSet)
> End Function
>
> Anybody have any ideas. Thanks in advance.
>
> -Rob
>