

Re: chr() .Net equivalent

---

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/DotNet/microsoft.public.dotnet.languages.vb/2008-04/msg00025.html>

---

- From: "Herfried K. Wagner [MVP]" <hurf-spam-me-here@xxxxxx>
  - Date: Tue, 1 Apr 2008 15:25:36 +0200
-

"David Griffiths" <dayvg69@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> schrieb:

I managed to complete the project removing "VB namespace" I went with the Convert.ToChar() solution.

I take onboard the arguments for keeping the VB namespace and will code accordingly for the future.

So I really hope you use 'ChrW' in future instead of 'Convert.ToChar' because it will not only save you a few keystrokes, but it will also be more efficient at runtime if a constant value is passed to 'ChrW'.

—

M S Herfried K. Wagner

M V P <URL:http://dotnet.mvps.org/>

V B <URL:http://dotnet.mvps.org/dotnet/faqs/>

.