Dear microsoft.public.dotnet.xml:

(Announce):

Who:

Jonathan Robie is the XQuery Technology Lead at DataDirect Technologies, which specializes in data integration, data connectivity and mainframe integration products. He is a lead designer of XQuery ( <http://www.xquery.com/> ), the W3C XML Query language and an editor of many of the specifications which define the XQuery language. He is also a co-inventor of Quilt, a predecessor of XQuery, and XQL, a predecessor of XPath ( <http://www.stylusstudio.com/xpath.html> ).

He is well known in the XML world, both as an innovator, speaker and blogosphere contributor ( http://blogs.datadirect.com/jonathan\_robie/ ).

What:

As a featured speaker at XML 2006, Jonathan Robie shares his vast expertise on the XML-oriented data integration language, XQuery with attendees of the Enterprise XML Computing track. In his presentation, "An XQuery Servlet for RESTful Data Services," Jonathan provides a step-by-step guide on how to use XQuery to integrate data from multiple sources to generate reports ( http://www.xquery.com/report\_generation/ ) in an XML or HTML result.

When:

An XQuery Servlet for RESTful Data Services
Wednesday, Dec. 6, 2006
3:30 p.m. ET

Where:

Sheraton Boston Hotel
39 Dalton Street
Boston, Mass.
