I have a spreadsheet with a dozen wide columns.

I have occasion to hide columns so I can fit what I want to see on a screen. However, sometimes I need to see a hidden column and I don't recall which one it was. I don't want to have to unhide everything so I can locate that column.

Is there a trick to seeing the column headings without having to unhide them? or is there an easy toggle between hide and unhide? –
