

Re: Save CSV File without prompting

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Excel/microsoft.public.excel.programming/2004-09/7958.html>

---

From: Rob K (RobK_at_discussions.microsoft.com)

Date: 09/23/04

Date: Thu, 23 Sep 2004 08:21:04 -0700

Is there something analagous available for closing a file (in this case a csv file) to avoid the discard/save message that pops up alerting the user that there's a large amounts of data in the clipboard?

I would like to be able to close my csv file after copying the data from it and automatically discard the data saved in the office clipboard.

Thanks in advance!

Rob

"Tom Ogilvy" wrote:

```
> ActiveWorkbook.SaveAs Filename:="L:#FACRR1
> \VendorReleaseDetailForImport.csv", _
> FileFormat:=xlCSV, CreateBackup:=False
>
> Activeworkbook.Close SaveChanges:=False
>
> --
> Regards,
> Tom Ogilvy
>
>
> "Chris" <anonymous@discussions.microsoft.com> wrote in message > news:00a801c4a171$51b4b430$3a01280a@phx.gbl...
> > When trying to save and close a CSV I get prompted > > with...Do you want to save changes to file.csv, then after > > choosing Yes I still get the SaveAs dialog box and have to > > choose Save, and then again am told that now it already > > exists, do I want to replace?
> >
> > User ends up having to respond to 3 pop-ups from Excel.
> > Is there a way to have these default to Yes/Save? Here is > > my simple close code..
> >
> > ActiveWorkbook.SaveAs Filename:="L:#FACRR1
> > \VendorReleaseDetailForImport.csv", _
> > FileFormat:=xlCSV, CreateBackup:=False
```

microsoft.public.excel.programming: Re: Save CSV File without prompting

> >
> > I have tried SendKeys but I dont think the VBA gets to > > that line of code because it is not yet finished with the > > Save so I cant just send keystrokes to say Yes, Save,
> > Yes. Any help would be greatly appreciated.
> >
> > c-
>
>
>