

Re: How can I add protect/unprotect sheet to this code?

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Excel/microsoft.public.excel.worksheet.functions/2004-08/4580.html>

From: Paul B (newspab_at_surfbest.net)

Date: 08/22/04

Date: Sun, 22 Aug 2004 09:55:04 -0400

James, your welcome

--

Paul B

Always backup your data before trying something new
Please post any response to the newsgroups so others can benefit from it
Feedback on answers is always appreciated!

Using Excel 2000 & 2003

 remove news from my email address to reply by email **

"James Norton" <jamo@rogers.com> wrote in message
news:4Z0Wc.25010$UYx.22159@twister01.bloor.is.net.cable.rogers.com...

> Hi Paul,

>

> Thank you very much for your assistance with this code, it works perfectly!

> I responded to the group on the 20th asking for further assistance because > it didn't work.

>

> I am very grateful for your help Paul.

>

> Best regards,

>

> James Norton

>

>

> "Paul B" <newspab@surfbest.net> wrote in message

> news:%23SoquQEiEHA.2540@TK2MSFTNGP10.phx.gbl...

> > James, you had two ways to do it in your post on the 19th, did it not > work?

> > one way

> >

> > Sub test()

> > Application.ScreenUpdating = False

> > ActiveSheet.Unprotect password:="" ' if you have a password put it between

> > the "" , like this "mypassword"

> > Dim i As Integer, p As Picture, r As Range, c As Range, ii As Integer

> > ii = 1

> > Set r = ActiveSheet.Range("G5:G14")

> > ActiveSheet.DrawingObjects.Delete

> > For Each c In r

> > ii = ii + 1

> > If c <> "" Then

microsoft.public.excel.worksheet.functions: Re: How can I add protect/unprotect sheet to this code?

```
> > With Application.FileSearch
> > .NewSearch
> > .LookIn = "c:\drugpics"
> > .SearchSubFolders = False
> > .Filename = "*" & c & ".jpg"
> > .Execute
> > For i = 1 To .FoundFiles.Count
> > With ActiveSheet
> > Set p = .Pictures.Insert(Application.FileSearch.FoundFiles(i))
> > .DrawingObjects(p.Name).Left = .Columns(ii).Left
> > .DrawingObjects(p.Name).Top = .Rows(16).Top
> > .DrawingObjects(p.Name).Width = .Columns(ii + 1).Left -
> > .Columns(ii).Left
> > .DrawingObjects(p.Name).Height = .Rows(17).Top - .Rows(16).Top
> > .DrawingObjects(p.Name).Placement = xlMoveAndSize
> > .DrawingObjects(p.Name).PrintObject = True
> > End With > > Exit For > > Next i
> > End With > > End If
> > Next c > > ActiveSheet.Protect password:="" ' if you have a password put it between
> > the
> > " " , like this "mypassword"
> > Application.ScreenUpdating = True
> > End Sub
> >
> > Or from Ron to protect all sheets on open with user interface only, so
the > > macros will run on the protected sheet, put in thisworkbook code, save
the > > workbook colse it and reopen it, her has the password set as ABCD change > > to > > your password or just use "" for no password, please do not post to more > > than one group or start another post, if something does not work just post
> > back
> >
> > Private Sub Workbook_Open()
> > Dim sh As Worksheet
> > Application.ScreenUpdating = False
> > For Each sh In ThisWorkbook.Worksheets
> > sh.Protect "ABCD", , , userinterfaceonly:=True
> > Next sh
> > Application.ScreenUpdating = True
> > End Sub
> >
> > --
> > Paul B
> > Always backup your data before trying something new
> > Please post any response to the newsgroups so others can benefit from it
> > Feedback on answers is always appreciated!
> > Using Excel 2000 & 2003
> >  remove news from my email address to reply by email **
> > "James Norton" <jamo@rogers.com> wrote in message
> > news:zS%Vc.24328$UYx.19085@twister01.bloor.is.net.cable.rogers.com...
> > > Good day,
> > >
> > > I have the code below on my sheet and want to keep the page protected > > > other > > > than when this code runs. How can I unprotect at the beginning of this
```

Re: How can I add protect/unprotect sheet to this code?

