

Re: Pivot Table Grouping by Month

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Excel/microsoft.public.excel/2005-04/msg00831.html>

- From: "Sunil Jayakumar" <sunil.jayakumar[at]gmail.com>
 - Date: Thu, 14 Apr 2005 16:43:55 +0100
-

What I've found to be the best method to actually do this is to add a month field. You can either add this by using a =MONTH(A2)&"/"&YEAR(A2), which doesn't format it very well, or copy the range into another column, format to mmm-yy, copy, paste into notepad, and paste back into Excel.

Hope this helps.

Sunil Jayakumar

"Faulk" <shane.faulkner@xxxxxxxx> wrote in message
<news:1113488406.460999.104860@xx>
> In my raw data, I have field called Month and it's entered as 4/1/05 > but formatted as April-05. When I use this field to group data in a > pivot table, the months appear as 4/1/05. How can I make them appear > as April-05 without having to format each individual cell in the pivot > table?
>

www.ayyoo.com/mortgages.html

• References:

◆ Pivot Table Grouping by Month

◇ From: Faulk

- Prev by Date: reinstalando la ayuda para el editor visual basic, o algo, pero necesito que funcione
- Next by Date: Re: If Statement: want user to be able to enter text in cell if FALSE
- Previous by thread: Pivot Table Grouping by Month
- Next by thread: Re: Pivot Table Grouping by Month
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread