

Moving Mailboxes

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Exchange/microsoft.public.exchange.admin/2005-02/0478.html>

From: paul (paul_at_discussions.microsoft.com)

Date: 02/02/05

Date: Wed, 2 Feb 2005 08:03:07 -0800

Olla All!

I need to retire my Exchange 2003 Server. I have a new server installed with Windows 2003 and Exchange 2003. I will move the users mail-boxes in groups over the next couple of weeks. My question is, when I am done, are there any issues in the removal of the original Exchange server? I only use a singel mail server and am wondering if this acts as any kind of "root" either in AD or the Exchange enviorenment. What Kind of problems if any should I anticipate? Im not worried about addressing or DNS records....I have that covered, but any hints on how to reconfigure the Outlook clients would be helpful!

Any help or links would be appreciated!

TIA

Paul Fritzler