

Re: Postmaster notifying the wrong account

---

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Exchange/microsoft.public.exchange.admin/2005-06/msg02948.html>

---

- From: Steve Aldred <steveyoushouldremovethis@xxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Wed, 22 Jun 2005 13:42:29 -0700
-

"MistakenCreation" <MistakenCreation@xxxxxxxxxx> wrote in news:#TYD8UFcFHA.3488@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx:

- > My question is pretty simple. The answer is pretty simple too, but I
- > havent been able to find it anywhere in the documentation.
- > A setting on my Exchange server was tweaked and now a user's account
- > is recieving all of the 'Undeliverable message' errors. I checked the
- > setting that defines which email address these are sent to and it is
- > default... 'Postmaster@xxxxxxxxxxxx' but for some reason it is
- > forwarding all of these messages to one of my users. This would not be
- > a problem except this organization is constantly spammed so this user
- > is recieving thousands of these a day. If there is any way I can
- > disable this forwarding please let me know.
- >
- > Thanks,
- > Mistaken.
- >
- >

Check to make sure that user doesn't have the e-mail address of 'Postmaster@xxxxxxxxxxxx' associated with their account.

Steve

---

• References:

- ◆ Postmaster notifying the wrong account
  - ◇ From: MistakenCreation
- Prev by Date: Re: Help! Exchange SMTP Greeting and RFC821 4.3
- Next by Date: Re: Exchange 2003 server queuing all outbound internet mail
- Previous by thread: Re: Postmaster notifying the wrong account
- Next by thread: Event 217 Error when backing up after Store Crash
- Index(es):
  - ◆ Date
  - ◆ Thread