

Re: Send Email to Outside Person with a Domain Email Address

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Exchange/microsoft.public.exchange.admin/2006-01/msg01631.html>

- From: "Matthew Wade" <matthew.wade@xxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Mon, 16 Jan 2006 11:15:29 -0500
-

You can make him a mail-enabled user vs. a mailbox-enabled user. The latter of course has a mailbox on your internal Exchange server. The MEU simply has an email address. This allows him to receive email as `user@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx` but your Exchange server will forward it to `user@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx`. Thus keeping the email on his server and not yours...

You can setup a MEU by creating a user account but not setting up the mailbox when prompted. After the account is created you can use the Exchange tasks to establish an email address for him. You'll be prompted to enter his email address...that's it. He will have an entry in your global address list and a user account to access your internal AD resources as you permit.

Matthew Wade
MCSE+M, MCSA+M

<rdzeeuw@xxxxxxxx> wrote in message
news:1137426265.002864.5900@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

- > Hello:
- >
- > As we all know, Exchange Server 2003 will send email directly to a
- > person's email address, without using SMTP, if that person has an
- > email address within the domain.
- >
- > We have one person with a domain email address that occasionally logs
- > onto the domain so
- > he has a user set up for him.
- >
- > Our mail.domain.com is not our server. It is outside. We receive
- > our emails using POP3.
- >
- > Is there any way to tell Exchange Server 2003 to send his emails
- > using SMTP (to the outside world, mail.domain.com) rather than
- > keeping his emails internal? In other words, to treat his email
- > address as a normal outside address like somebody@xxxxxxxx?
- >

Re: Send Email to Outside Person with a Domain Email Address

> Thanks in advance,
> Rick
>

• Follow-Ups:

- ◆ Re: Send Email to Outside Person with a Domain Email Address
◇ From: rdezeeuw@xxxxxxxxxx

• References:

- ◆ Send Email to Outside Person with a Domain Email Address
◇ From: rdezeeuw@xxxxxxxxxx
- Prev by Date: Re: Migrate 2003 users to another 2003 box
- Next by Date: Re: corrupt dbEvent id 478: priv.stm read operation failed with error
- Previous by thread: Re: Send Email to Outside Person with a Domain Email Address
- Next by thread: Re: Send Email to Outside Person with a Domain Email Address
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread